

NEW CASES IN COURT

Husband Seeks Divorce After Six Weeks' Marriage—
Other Business Returnable for May.

A number of new cases have been made returnable for the superior court on the first Tuesday of May. Among the number not previously published are the following:

Thomas E. Hewitt of Brooklyn, in an appeal from the action of the board of relief of North Stonington, sets forth that he is the owner of property in that town as a non-resident. The assessors valued his property at $11,135, and added thereto 10 per cent. because no list was handed in. The board of relief was appealed to, to take off the ten per cent. addition, which it is claimed was illegal, but refused to do so, and the action is now brought to the superior court for its redaction.

Harry Hanks of Norwich has brought suit for divorce against Annie W. Hanks of Norwich for a divorce. They were married March 12, 1911. It is claimed she is a sufferer from epilepsy, which has been concealed from him at all times prior to their marriage.

Elizabeth R. Norton has brought suit against Leonard M. Harris for $5,500 damages and possession of goods which were taken in March, 1911, and have been replaced by Mr. Franklin. The value of goods is $5,500.

On a common count Harold A. Davidson of Brooklyn has brought suit against the Iron Glad Manufacturing company of New London for the sum of $2,000.

The Jewett City Savings bank has brought suit against Ellen Farrell and others for the foreclosure of a mortgage and possession of mortgaged property in Norwich, the defendants being relatives of John Farrell, deceased, who gave a promissory note for $1,400 August 20, 1910.

The Washington Trust company of Westerly has brought suit against Job Thorp of Stonington, administrator of the estate of Amelia Thorp, for the foreclosure of a mortgage and possession of mortgaged premises. The mortgage was for $5,000 and the mortgaged property is located in Stonington. A second mortgage on the property for $2,200 is held by Fred W. Dart of Hartford.

An appeal is taken by Ella M. Davis of Brooklyn from the action of the court of probate at New London in the estate of Byron Tinker, late of Waterford, deceased.

W. W. BENT CHOSEN HIGH CHIEF RANGER.

Independent Order of Foresters Held State Convention in Bridgeport.

Representing some 2,000 members of the order in the state, delegates numbering over 200 gathered in Bridgeport Tuesday for the annual state convention of the Independent Order of Foresters. Sessions were held during the morning and afternoon, a banquet following the closing meeting.

Officers were elected as follows: William W. Bent of Bridgeport, high chief ranger; W. B. Whyte of Hartford, high vice chief ranger; James A. Hyman of Waterbury, high secretary; Wallace A. Smith of Bridgeport, high treasurer; J. F. Burford of Hartford, representative to the supreme court session; Charles E. Hoadley, New Haven, high counselor; Dr. Emil Rock, North Grovesend, high physician; W. A. Scott, Bridgeport, high orator; E. W. Phelps, Bridgeport, high junior woodward.

Hugh Clark Ranger Bent was formerly of this city, being the son of Mr. and Mrs. Martin Bent of Thames street.

OBITUARY.

Dr. Frederik W. Moore.

Frederik W. Moore, Ph. D., who died in Denver, Col., on April 23, was born in East Lyme Oct. 15, 1841. He was a son of Ezra and Juliette Beck with Moore. When a youth he went to New London; gained a public school education; graduated from Bulkeley and entered Yale, where he was graduated in 1865. Dr. Moore spent two years studying in Germany. Afterwards he taught for a while in the University of Pennsylvania, but about 18 years ago joined the faculty of Vanderbilt university. He was an untiring worker for that institution and became dean of the academic department.

Dr. Moore was a prominent official in the Baptist church in Nashville and was closely allied with the religious and educational interests of that denomination in Tennessee and the south. As a devoted Christian gentleman he was beloved universally. Dr. Moore enjoyed robust health until the fall of 1910, when he contracted a cold, which developed tuberculosis. His physician advised going to Denver for treatment, which he did about Nov. 1. Strong hopes were entertained for his recovery, but hemorrhages set in and he died suddenly on Sunday. His immediate relatives are three brothers, E. Lewis Moore of Framingham, Mass.; William Moore of Fort Dodge, Ia.; and Edward S. Moore of Norwich, N. Y., and three sisters residing in New London. Dr. Moore was well known in New London, where he had spent many vacations. He was there during the summer of 1910, visiting his relatives and in research in the library at Harvard university. His body will be buried in the family plot at East Lyme.

John Manwaring.

At 5:30 o'clock Tuesday morning John Manwaring passed away at his home at East Great Plain. He had been in poor health for some time and was seriously sick for the past six months with heart trouble, although he was able to be out last Sunday. He was born in Montville March 25, 1850, and was the son of John and Eliza Church Manwaring. He was descended from old New England stock on his mother's side, and through his father was a descendant of Oliver Manwaring, who settled at Manwaring Hill in New London in 1684. This property has always been in the possession of the family until six years ago, when it was deeded by Webster E. Manwaring to the city of New London for a children's memorial hospital to which John had also left a sum of $100,000.

John Manwaring was married on May 27, 1882, in Montville to Miss Mary E. Raymond, the daughter of Richard and Julia Ann Gaudin, of Montville. For some years the deceased with his brother, James H. Manwaring, conducted a large farm in Montville, until 1915, when the former moved to East Great Plain, where he has since resided. He was connected with the New London County Agricultural society from the time of its organization and took an active interest in its affairs. He was one of the directors of the society and for many years was marshal and had charge of the fair grounds. He was a

WOMAN'S RELIEF CORPS ANNUAL CONVENTION.

Connecticut Department to Assemble Today for Two Days' Gathering.

The twenty-eighth annual convention of the department of Connecticut Woman's Relief corps will be held in Hartford today and Tuesday at the Fourth Congregational church, at the guest of Robert O. Tyler corps. The department auditing committee met on Tuesday afternoon at 3 o'clock for the purpose of auditing the books and accounts of the department secretary and treasurer. The department council will meet at the church at 9 a. m. today and the first session of the convention will be held at 10 o'clock.

The department president, Mrs. Lois Irene Earl, of Hartford, who was one of the two passengers injured in the collision on the Central New England railroad last week, will be able to be present. The national president, Mrs. Belle C. Harris, of Kansas, the national senior vice, Mrs. Eliza Brown Deagel, of New York, the national treasurer, Mrs. Charlotte E. Wright, of New Haven, and the national patriotic instructor, Mrs. Lute Stuart Wadsworth, of Boston, will be present. There will be anniversary exercises and flag presentations at the public exercises in the church this evening, after which a reception will be held in the church parlors which is tendered by Robert O. Tyler corps to the department president and staff, department Commanders, national J. Cuthill and staff, national officers and past department officers.

It is expected that there will be a good representation of the voting members of convention, as Hartford is a favorite city for the Woman's Relief corps, and the non-voting members also will be largely in evidence.

Mrs. Annie L. Rawson, Miss Florence Robins and Mrs. Gertrude Johnson were the delegates, and Mrs. Lillian E. Brewster, Mrs. Maud E. Baker and Mrs. Annie E. Woodman the alternates, elected by Sedwick corps, No. 15, to represent it at the annual state convention.

PLANT'S ELENA LAUNCHED.

New Steel Racing Yacht, Product of Herreshoff, for N. Y. Y. C. Fleet.

The new steel racing yacht Elena, built for former Commodore Morton F. Plant of the New York Yacht Club, went down the marine railway at the Herreshoff works at Bristol, R. I., on Monday to the accompaniment of strains of orchestral music and the cheers of scores of the owner's personal friends from New York. The Elena is named for Queen Helena of Italy. Mr. Plant using the Italian pronunciation. The boat was christened by Mrs. Plant.

Elena is distinctly a steel boat, built with steel frame and steel sheathing, and is also of the centerboard type, the first large racing yacht of that class to be launched at Bristol since the cup defender Vigilant was built in 1903. In dimensions Elena is similar to the schooner Westward, built last year, or Alexander S. Cochran of New York and the late Capt. Charles Barr's last command. She is 135 feet long over all and 34 feet 6 inches water line, with a beam of 27 feet 6 inches and 12 foot draught. She will be commanded by Bill Dennis and will have a crew of 28 men.

Dr. Pollock Vice President.

At the sixty-first annual meeting of the Connecticut Homeopathic Medical society at New Haven on Tuesday Dr. Samuel Worcester of South Norwalk was elected president and Dr. H. M. Pollock of Norwich vice president. The other officers were re-elected.

Dr. Pollock is a native of New England, a breeder of fancy cattle and horses and for years his exhibits at the stock fairs were of the best. Mr. Manwaring brought horses into Connecticut from Canada and the west when a young horseback. He was well known to the horsemen and cattle breeders of this section and was on the most friendly terms with all. He was an excellent breeder of horses and cattle and prospered in his business. His head of Ayres has for years been one of the attractions in the cattle stalls at the fair.

Mr. Manwaring is survived by his wife and two of their five children—John Manwaring, Jr., who is also engaged in the horse business, and Dr. Jay Manwaring, both of this city. He also leaves one brother, James H. Manwaring, of Montville, and a sister, Mrs. Eleanor R. Manwaring, of Norwich. Mr. Manwaring was devoted to his home and was ever a kind and thoughtful father, husband and brother. He was of a kind and charitable nature and took a deep interest in the welfare of those with whom he came in contact. He was never interested in politics. The deceased led an exemplary life and his death is a loss to the community.

Miss Annie H. Fish.

The death of Miss Annie Hallam Fish, who had been in failing health for over a year through diabetes, occurred on Tuesday evening about 7:30 o'clock at the Sheltering Arms. Miss Fish was a native of this city, the daughter of the late Ambrose and Mary E. Fish, her father, who died a number of years ago, having been a pattern maker at the Cranston printing press works. Her mother passed away about five years ago, and Miss Fish was the last of her immediate family, but she leaves some relatives residing on Long Island.

The deceased lived most of her life on the West Side, being educated in the Westchester district schools. For quite a number of years after the death of her father she lived with her mother on Spring street. Through her employment as a dressmaker she had come into many of the homes of the city and had a wide acquaintance. For over twenty years she was a member of the choir at the Central Baptist church, possessing an alto voice of fine quality. About a year ago, when her health began to fail, she became one of the family at the Sheltering Arms and lived there until the time of her death. There will be many friends to whom the news of her death will come with a sense of personal loss.
